Defendants' Summary Judgment Motion In Action to Enforce Payments Denied

Plaintiff brought an action to enforce certain payment obligations allegedly owed by defendants MCG Equity Partners and Meridian Capital Group under a settlement agreement arising out of an April 2019 dispute concerning plaintiff's membership and equity interests in MEP. Plaintiff also seeks a declaratory judgment regarding the extent of additional payment obligations due under the Letter Agreement. Defendants moved to dismiss plaintiff's first and second causes of action seeking to enforce certain payment obligations. The motion was denied. The court held that the causes of actions stated were valid and that none of defendants' arguments refuted the causes of action.

Court Orders Names of Priests Accused Of Sexual Abuse Must Be Disclosed

Plaintiff brought an action under the Child Victims Act ("CVA"). According to the complaint, plaintiff was a student at the St. Benedict Joseph Labre School, where Peter Mastrandrea was a teacher and Thomas William Hendel was a priest. Plaintiff claimed that beginning in 1983, from the ages of five to approximately seven years old, Mastrandrea and Hendel repeatedly pulled plaintiff out of class and took him to a teacher's lounge, where Mastrandrea and Hendel sexually assaulted Plaintiff on multiple occasions. Plaintiff asserted causes of action sounding in negligence against both the Diocese of Brooklyn and against the St. Benedict Joseph Labre Parish. In-camera review of documents was made by the court. The court held information about other priests accused of sexual abuse and details of the investigations must be disclosed. The exception was the names of the alleged victims of the other priests, which were to be redacted.

NEW YORK | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Court Allows Police Officer to Testify In a Remote Location

Petitioner sought a protective order permitting an undercover police officer to testify from a remote location, in a disguise, to a closed courtroom. The court granted petitioner's application part to the extent of permitting the officer to testify identified by their assigned undercover number, in a disguise from the remote location, and denying that portion of petitioner's application seeking an order closing the courtroom during the officer's testimony. The court held that the record supported permitting the officer to testify in a disguise from a remote location and identified by their undercover number, but that such remote and disguised testimony was itself a reasonable alternative to closing the proceeding. As the contemplated trial was a bench rather than jury trial, the court assumed that it would be capable of fully assessing the witness' credibility through a disguise and remotely.

Evidence Suppressed in Criminal Action; Miranda Rights Violated

Defendant was charged with attempted murder in the second degree, criminal possession of a weapon in the second degree, reckless endangerment in the second degree (and other related charges). The defendant moved to suppress evidence. The court suppressed an in-custody interrogation due to the police failure to request or establish defendant's voluntary waiver of his Miranda rights. It further suppressed the portion of the interrogation following defendant's statement, "I think I might need a lawyer," which the interrogating official acknowledged as an invocation of the right to counsel. While the pre-invocation statements may be used for impeachment purposes only, the court held post-invocation statements may not due to the lack of established voluntariness, excepting a spontaneous admission that was not the product of police questioning. Defendant's post-invocation, spontaneous admission also may be used for impeachment purposes only.

APP. DIV. | CIVIL APPEALS

Plaintiff's Failure to Provide a Non-Military Affidavit Does Not Void Default Judgment

In 2021, plaintiff Tri-Rail Designers & Builders sued Concrete Superstructures and its president to recover damages for breach of contract and sought damages in the sum of $946,001. Upon defendants' failure to appear or answer the complaint, plaintiff moved for leave to enter a default judgment. The supreme court granted the motion and entered a judgment vacate defendants. In 2023, defendants moved to vacate their default and the judgment entered against them, as plaintiff failed to provide a non-military affidavit with respect to Concrete's president. This appeal presented a question that had not been directly addressed in this judicial department: where a default judgment was entered in the absence of the requisite affidavit stating that the defaulting party's failure to appear is not due to active military service (a non-military affidavit), is that defendant entitled to vacatur of the default judgment as of right? The Appellate Division held that where, as here, the defaulting defendant does not purport to be a member of the U.S. military, movant's failure to provide a non-military affidavit is not a basis for vacatur of an otherwise validly entered default judgment.

Justice Lara J. Genovesi

Tri-Rail Designers & Builders Inc. v. Concrete Superstructures Inc., 615322/21 (November 12)

KINGS | REAL ESTATE

Defendant Son Ordered to Produce Share Certificate for Cooperative Apartment

Plaintiff alleged that her son defrauded her into executing papers in 2018, causing the cooperative apartment corporation for the building in which she lived to issue a share certificate to both of them which reflected a joint tenancy with rights of survivorship; a previous share certificate reflected a tenancy in common. The son opposed his mother's motion to compel him to produce the share certificate. The court cited case law to the effect that a co-tenant of co-op apartment corporation shares held as joint tenants can sever the joint tenancy to create a tenancy in common. Thus, the motion could sever the joint tenancy, contrary to the son's argument. The son was ordered to produce the share certificate. Thus, the mother could proceed to effectuate her now-stated desire to have her daughter and son own the apartment's shares.

Dismissal of Foreclosure Action Denied By Court

In an action, on the day scheduled for bench trial, the defendant Nicola Johnson sought dismissal of the foreclosure action against her, among other things. The court dismissed the foreclosure action against Nicola Johnson finding that the undisputed facts demonstrate that there was no viable action for foreclosure of the subject note and mortgage against Nicola Johnson's ownership interest in the subject property because the complaint did plead the existence of the mortgage, the unpaid note, and Nicola Johnson's default there under.

Suit Against Pharma Companies Fails to State Plausible Proxy Statement Omission Claim

In 2024, defendants Taro Pharmaceutical Industries and Sun Pharmaceutical Industries issued a joint press release announcing they had entered into an agreement under which Sun would purchase all outstanding ordinary shares of Taro it did not already own. A merger agreement was later approved by Taro's and Sun's boards of directors. Taro mailed a proxy statement to shareholders, soliciting them to vote in favor of the merger. Defendants ultimately contended Section 13(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, on which the individual plaintiff based his claims, does not provide a private right of action. Among other things, plaintiff claimed the proxy statement omitted material information by failing to specify whether Bank of America (BoFA) "recommended the amount of consideration to be paid" in the transaction. The court granted defendants' motion to dismiss the case, holding plaintiff's interpretation of the proxy statement as leaving open the possibility that BoFA had some greater, undisclosed role in determining the merger consideration did not state a plausible omission claim, and certainly not with the particularity required under the PSLRA.

Court Sustains Drug-Conspiracy Verdicts, But Acquits on One Count for Improper Venue

A jury convicted defendants Lavon Parks and James C. Parks of conspiring to possess narcotics with the intent to distribute them; discharging a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime; and discharging a firearm causing death. The jury also convicted defendant Lavon of attempting to possess 500 grams or more of cocaine with the intent to distribute it (count 2) and possessing a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime. Defendants later moved for a judgment of acquittal under FRCP 29 or, in the alternative, a new trial. The court, among other things, found sufficient evidence showing defendants conspired with others to distribute the amounts of narcotics charged in the indictment. The court also held that, based on witnesses' testimony about James' involvement in the conspiracy, a jury could reasonably infer that James was aware of, or at least could possibly have foreseen, the full scope of the conspiracy and the amounts of drugs involved. However, the court found that the government's evidence was insufficient to establish venue in this district as to count 2 and, therefore, granted Lavon's motion for a judgment of acquittal on that count.

Dismissal of Bus-Ban Case Recommended For Failure to Satisfy Monell Requirements

The Ulster County Area Transit defendants purportedly told plaintiff she could no longer ride the public bus because she urinated on it. Plaintiff claimed she does not have a history of urinary incontinence and that she "never" urinated on the bus. Plaintiff asserted claims under 42 USC §§1981, 1983, and the 14th Amendment. Plaintiff also sought damages for slander, defamation per se, emotional distress, and loss of income. A magistrate judge, among other things, recommended that the district court dismiss the complaint because plaintiff failed to establish Monell liability. Specifically, the magistrate judge determined that plaintiff did not allege any formal policy, widespread practice, or actions directed by Ulster County's "authorized decisionmakers" or those who establish governmental policy" sufficient to satisfy the pleading requirements for a Monell claim. Even liberally construing plaintiff's complaint, the magistrate judge noted that the allegations did not lead to a plausible inference that there is an Ulster County policy or custom that was implemented to wrongfully deny plaintiff her right to ride on the public bus.

Court Upholds Foreign Terrorist Organization-Training Indictment Despite Delay Claims

Defendant was charged in an indictment with receiving military-type training from a foreign terrorist organization (FTO). Defendant brought several pre-trial motions, including a motion to dismiss the indictment due to pre-indictment delay; a motion to dismiss the indictment due to violation of the non-delegation doctrine; and a motion to suppress statements made by defendant during certain interviews with federal law enforcement. Among other things, the court denied defendant's motions to dismiss the indictment charging her with receiving military-type training from an FTO due to pre-indictment delay and for violation of the non-delegation doctrine. The court determined that defendant failed to identify any actual prejudice, such as specific evidence or witnesses rendered unavailable, due to the government's delay. Further, the court added that defendant failed to show that any alleged prejudice to her was due to the government's action and did not offer evidence to suggest that delay by the government in obtaining an indictment against her was an intentional device to gain a tactical advantage.
