Motion to Amend Complaint in Contracts Case Granted

Plaintiff sought to recover on personal guaranties executed by defendant guarantors David Gross, Luol Deng and Taylor Klemm. Plaintiff claims that after the borrower defaulted on the $8,000,000 loan defendant-guarantors failed to satisfy their obligations under the guaranties. Defendants Deng and Klemm jointly answered the complaint, and defendant Gross separately answered. Deng and Klemm moved for leave to amend their answer. The motion was granted. The court held the proposed factual allegations may be asserted as they were relevant to the moving-defendant's affirmative defenses and plaintiffs causes of action invoking sections 9.1 and 9.2 of the guaranty.

Justice Margaret A. Chan

Court Adjudicates on Two Summary Judgment Motions in Labor Law Action

Plaintiff commenced an action to recover for damages he claims to have sustained when he slipped and fell at a construction site on Dec. 20, 2019. Plaintiff and defendant moved for summary judgment. Plaintiff's summary judgment was granted. The court held defendants contended that they did not have actual notice of the dangerous condition and that plaintiff had not demonstrated that the condition persisted for a sufficient amount of time to give defendants constructive notice. However, plaintiff included copies of text messages with photos in his papers that provided notice of a premises condition at the site. Defendants' witnesses did not rebut plaintiff's evidence. Defendants' cross-motion for summary judgment was granted to the extent of dismissing plaintiffs Labor Law §240 (1) claim and his Labor Law §241 (6) claim as predicated on all alleged Industrial Code violations except Rule L7 (d).

U.S. - SDNY | CREDITORS' AND DEBTORS' RIGHTS

Plaintiff's Fact Allegations Support Veil Piercing in Default Judgment Collection Suit

Plaintiff (Aido) sued defendants Stern, Knitwork Productions II, American Attitudes USA, and Express Trade Capital to enforce and collect on a $1.3 million default judgment. To collect judgment Aido sought to pierce the corporate veil between Stern and Express Trade, and to collect against American Attitudes under a theory of successor liability. In addition to unjust enrichment, Aido asserted claims for actual and constructive fraudulent transfer. The court only partly granted defendants' motion to dismiss Aido's operative second amended complaint. Aido's factual allegations supported its veil-piercing claims. There was significant overlap in Knitwork's and Express Trade's ownership, and both operated from the same offices and did not deal with each other at arm's length due to Stern's control of both. Aido also adequately alleged that American Attitudes was liable as Knitwork's corporate successor under the "de facto merger" and fraud exceptions. Aido adequately alleged claims for actual and constructive fraudulent conveyance under both the former and current versions of New York's Debtor & Creditor Law.

U.S. - EDNY | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Pleadings Struck as Sanction for 'Bad Faith' Conduct; Monetary Sanctions Too Harsh

By summary judgment LaMarco and GDLogix Inc. were held liable for violating the Commodity Exchange Act. Remaining claims against defendants were voluntarily dismissed. On June 16, 2025, the undersigned magistrate judge issued a report and recommendations (R&R) on damages. Instantly, on referral, plaintiff sought imposition of sanctions, under the court's inherent powers based upon LaMarco filing repetitive false accusations against plaintiff and its counsel through pleadings and letters. The court granted plaintiff sanctions. Reviewing LaMarco's conduct, the court found it clear that he continuously asserts untrue and false accusations against plaintiff. Further, LaMarco focuses more on allegations rather than asserting legal positions in a recent accusation that plaintiff misled four federal judges. Nor did LaMarco affirm or deny threats allegedly made to plaintiff and its counsel, but rather suggested that plaintiff "mischaracterized" what occurred. LaMarco's conduct showed bad faith. But, finding monetary sanctions harsh, the court once again struck LaMarco's offending pleadings.

Magistrate Judge James M. Wicks
Eastern District

U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. LaMarco, 17-CV-04087 (June 20)

NEW YORK | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Failure to Maintain Address Does Not Provide Reasonable Excuse for Default

Plaintiff, Namdar, Inc., alleged that, between Jan. 14, 2020, and Feb. 10, 2020, it sold and delivered merchandise worth $46,592.20 to defendant Kurt Gaum, Inc. Prior to delivery, defendant Blake Soper personally guaranteed the obligations of Kurt Gaum to plaintiff. Plaintiff moved for default judgment. The motion was granted. Defendants then moved to vacate the decision. The motion was denied. The court held defendants concede that Kurt Gaum was still legally active at the time of service. Whether it ceased business operations or surrendered its premises was immaterial; failure to maintain a current address on file with the Secretary of State at which the corporation can receive process did not constitute a reasonable excuse.

Justice Arthur F. Engoron

KINGS | PERSONAL INJURY

Summary Judgment Granted; Plaintiff Not Party to Contract

Plaintiff Nicholas Mazzola was injured when a piece of the fourth-floor balustrade in the facade of a mixed-use building located on the Avenue of Americas in Manhattan dislodged and hit him. Plaintiff brought two separate actions for personal injuries that were consolidated into one. Defendant and third-party defendant moved for summary judgment. Summary judgment was granted to the defendant and fully granted for the third-party defendant. The court held defendant demonstrated its prima facie entitlement to judgment by coming forward with evidence that plaintiff was not a party to the facade-inspection contract. Because plaintiff failed to allege in his pleadings any facts that would establish a possible applicability of any of the Espinal exceptions, defendant was not required to demonstrate affirmatively that none of those exceptions applied in order to establish its prima facie entitlement to judgment as a matter of law.

Justice Ingrid Joseph

U.S. - SDNY | WAGE AND HOUR LITIGATION

FLSA Overtime Suit Dismissed; Given Work Week Exceeding 40 Hours Not Pleaded

Garcia was a superintendent of a residential building in the Bronx. His putative collective action asserted minimum wage, overtime, record-keeping, and other violations under both the Fair Labor Standards Act and New York's Labor Law. The court granted defendants dismissal of Garcia's second amended complaint (SAC), which it noted was riddled with errors and inconsistencies. Garcia failed to state an FLSA claim and the court declined to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over his NYLL claims. However, Garcia was granted leave to file a Third Amended Complaint. Garcia failed to plausibly plead a given week in which he worked in excess of 40 hours. His SAC fatally "waffle[d]" on factual details such that the court could not tell if there was a given week in which he actually worked for more than 40 hours.

District Judge Nelson S. Román

U.S. - WDNY | DISCOVERY

Motion to Remove 'Attorneys' Eyes Only' Designation From Discovery Documents Denied

Plaintiff Nanjing's action asserted claims of breach of fiduciary duty and unjust enrichment against Foundry Associates Inc. and its president defendant Schwartz. At the parties' request the court entered a protective order under which they could designate discovery as "Confidential" or "Attorneys' Eyes Only" (AEO) under certain circumstances. Plaintiff moved to remove the AEO designation from certain documents produced by defendants. Both plaintiff Nanjing's designation motion and defendants' cross-motion to impose upon Nanjing costs incurred in producing de-designated discovery materials were denied. The court denied Nanjing's request that defendants de-designate and redact certain sales reports from 2023 and 2024, and also found de-designation of invoices underlying those sales reports not warranted. The court agreed with defendants that revealing information sought by Nanjing would reveal key information about customers' ordering history, and constitutes "procurement habits" and "specific business patterns" expressly afforded AEO protection by the Protective Order.

NEW YORK | CONTRACTS

Order to Show Cause Granted; Preliminary Injunction Instated

Petitioner and respondents entered into a Revenue Purchase. Pursuant to that agreement, respondent sold $238,000 in future receipts to petitioner, in exchange for $163,015. Respondent was required to deposit all receipts into a designated account ending in *6494. Petitioner alleged that respondents breached the agreement by putting a block on the Designated Account, denying petitioner access. Petitioner additionally provided a Notice of Breach in which it informed respondent of the alleged breach. Petitioner submitted an Order to Show Cause seeking a preliminary injunction in aid of arbitration, restraining respondents' funds held at Wells Fargo Bank N.A in the amount of $262,623.14. The order was granted. The court held that the petitioner had a likelihood to succeed on the merits, irreparable harm, and that arbitration would be inadequate.

Hearing Ordered in CVA Case to Determine Violations of Court Orders

Plaintiff commenced this action pursuant to the Child Victims Act seeking damages for sexual abuse he allegedly suffered while a student at Torah High School. Plaintiff moved to proceed in the action anonymously by using a pseudonym in his publicly filed documents pursuant to Civil Rights Law 50-b and requiring that in any publicly filed court papers. Defendants opposed. The motion was granted. The decision was upheld in Appellate Court. The plaintiff then moved to strike defendant's defenses and for sanctions for violations of court orders. Defendants cross-moved for sanctions. The court ordered a hearing. The court held the confidentiality orders and order to proceed pseudonymously were done so to protect the plaintiff's privacy.

U.S. - SDNY | EMPLOYMENT LITIGATION

Claims' Arbitration Not Compelled; Sexual Harassment Under NYCHRL Plausibly Alleged

Defendants (PwC or the Firm) recruited Owens to develop its credit card consulting business. Shortly after she joined PwC Owens' colleagues and supervisors provided little support, deprived her of opportunities, stole credit for her work, and treated her with hostility. In addition to a hostile work environment, Owens allegedly faced age, race, and gender discrimination. After Owens filed a formal ethics and compliance complaint PwC's board forced her mandatory "withdrawal" the day before her five-year anniversary, the date on which certain benefits would vest. Shortly after Owens brought action for ERISA's violation, discrimination, and retaliation, PwC instituted arbitration proceedings. PwC's instant motion to compel arbitration of Owens' claims was denied. Owens plausibly alleged sexual harassment under the New York City Human Rights Law. Thus the arbitration provision in her employment agreement was instantly unenforceable against her. The court denied Owens' motion to stay arbitration pending in the AAA. The End Forced Arbitration Act did not apply to the claims in the AAA Action.

District Judge Gregory H. Woods
