DECISIONS OF INTEREST

BRONX | LANDLORD TENANT LAW

Dismissal of Eviction Granted for Failure To Provide VAWA Notice

In a non-payment eviction proceeding, the petitioner-landlord failed to serve Respondent-tenant with the predicate notices as required by the Violence Against Women Act ("VAWA") and made judicial admissions. The court granted respondent's motion to dismiss and noted that when landlords accept Low Income Housing Tax Credits ("LIHTC") they become a "covered housing provider" under Federal Law and must issue VAWA notices as a predicate to any eviction. The failure of a covered provider to issue VAWA notices is a fatal defect. Additionally, the court held that statements made by a petitioner in the pleadings of one case can constitute judicial admissions in a different case. These judicial admissions were fair grounds for dismissal. Further, the court allowed adjudication of respondent-tenant's counterclaims relating to warranty of habitability in a separate hearing after eviction claims were dismissed.

RICHMOND | FAMILY LAW

Court Grants Change in Child Custody For Plaintiff

In a post-judgment matrimonial action arose from a de facto change in custody, the parties' Judgment of Divorce/Custody Stipulation provided for the parties to share joint legal custody with equally shared physical custody of the child. However, following a domestic dispute between the defendant and the child, the child resided almost exclusively with the plaintiff. The child's overnight visits with defendant diminished to two or three Mondays per month. Plaintiff sought to have the Judgment of Divorce amended to reflect the de facto custodial arrangement and to obtain financial relief commensurate with his increased parenting responsibilities. The relief was granted. The court held plaintiff demonstrated the manifest change in circumstances with the child residing nearly exclusively with the plaintiff for over a year and the defendant's parenting time having atrophied, with her markedly diminished participation in the child's daily life. The evidence clearly demonstrated plaintiff assumed near-total caretaking responsibilities and represented a paradigmatic shift.

SECOND CIRCUIT | ELECTION AND POLITICAL LAW

'Naming Provisions' Bar on Use of 'Independent' Do Not Impose on Free Speech Rights

District court denied Walden a preliminary injunction barring New York State and City Board Of Elections officials from prohibiting his use of "Independence" or "Independent" as a part of the name of an independent body through which he seeks to run as a prospective nominee for the 2025 New York City mayoral election. Affirming judgment below Second Circuit held that district court did not abuse its discretion in denying Walden's motion for a preliminary injunction. The Circuit rejected Walden's assertion that the "Naming Provisions" of N.Y. Elec. Law §§2-124(2) and 6-138(3)(f) are an impermissible, content-based restriction on core political speech. Rather, it agreed with the court that the Naming Provisions did not severely impose upon Walden's First Amendment rights to speech and association, and that the laws' restrictions on Walden's rights were reasonable and justified by the State's articulated interest in avoiding voter confusion with the now defunct Independence Party of New York, which existed from 1991 to 2020.

U.S. - SDNY | LABOR LAW

MMC Must Make Interim Withdrawal Liability Payments Totaling $154,590 Under ERISA

Defendant Mensch Millwork Corp. (MMC) withdrew from making contributions to the Carpenters Pension Fund. In 2023 it was informed that its withdrawal liability was assessed at $241,026 to be paid in quarterly installments. Plaintiff Fund trustees' underlying 2023 action sought to collect employer withdrawal liability under ERISA and the MPPAA. As of Feb. 18, 2025, defendant failed to make eight quarterly installment payments, totaling $154,950 in past-due withdrawal liability payments. Instantly, district court granted the Fund's trustees' motion to compel MMC to make interim payments of withdrawal liability pursuant to ERISA's "pay now, dispute later" requirement. Plaintiff trustees satisfied the four requirements set out in 29 USC §1399(b)(1), and are thus entitled to interim liability payments. Employers remain obligated to make interim payments even while the withdrawal liability claim is being litigated. MMC's claim that it was not an employer under the MPPAA does not affect plaintiff's right to receive interim payments.

KINGS | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Service Found Proper Under Oklahoma Law

In a case of first impression, defendant failed to provide any Oklahoma supporting legal precedent nor legislative history nor legislative intent for its argument. Defendant erred in its argument that the Oklahoma statute as Black Letter Law was dispositively premised solely on the plain letter of the law of the words contained, which plaintiff viably countered. Defendant failed to provide support for its interpretation of the plain letter of the law of which it argued. The issue was whether personal service upon its registered agent privately contracted and appointed corporate agent designated and added by defendant to a list of registered agents maintained by the Oklahoma Secretary of State is for purposes of service of process an agent authorized by statute to receive service. The court upheld service of process perfected in Oklahoma as valid. Defendant's privately contracted and designated agent for service of process stanned in the shoes of defendant and was not an authorized agent acting under color of state law, thus no direct secondary mailing to defendant was required.

SUFFOLK | DAMAGES

Court Elects to Use Defendant's Expert's Plan To Calculate Damages

In a prior decision, the court was affirmed by the Appellate Division and the plaintiff was awarded summary judgment declaring that the defendants violated certain provisions of a conservation easement and enforcing the conservation easement by compelling the restoration of the property to the condition that existed prior to such violations. A bench trial was held by the court on damages including a determination of the cost to restore the property. The court found that the defendants' expert's proposed plan is the one that should be utilized. The court held it found numerous aspects of plaintiff's expert testimony and proposed plan troubling and unpersuasive including the fact that, as plaintiff's expert conceded herself, there was a dearth of actual evidence of the condition of the easement property immediately preceding defendant's disturbance and violation.

SECOND CIRCUIT | ENVIRONMENTAL LAW

Fencing to Exclude Deer From Sunken Forest Does Not Violate Deed Restrictions

Deeds conveying the Sunken Forest Preserve to the U.S. government required the Preserve to be kept in its natural state as a wildlife preserve. Managed by the National Park Service, the tract is now part of the larger Fire Island National Seashore. In 2016 the government authorized construction of fencing to exclude deer from most of the Sunken Forest, and lethal and nonlethal methods to control the deer population. Plaintiff Wildlife Preserve's quiet title action claimed the 2016 Deer and Vegetation Management Plan violated its deed restrictions. Second Circuit affirmed district court's grant of summary judgment to the government. The Plan does not violate the deed restrictions as interpreted under New York Law. Given substantial evidence that the proliferation of deer threatens to destroy rare flora and adversely impacts local fauna the construction of mesh fencing complies with the deed restrictions. Use of fencing to protect rare, old-growth maritime holly aligns with the government's mandate to maintain the Sunken Forest in its natural state and to operate it a preserve for the maintenance of wildlife. The fence will bisect not fully enclose the conveyed property.

U.S. - EDNY | BANKING AND FINANCE LAWS

Class Decertification Denied But Class Re-Definition Motion Is Granted

Cheng's operative March 25, 2020, class action complaint asserted that although the terms and conditions governing HSBC Bank's savings accounts indicate that interest should accrue on noncash deposits at the moment of transfer HSBC credited interest only after it received a deposit. On remand from Second Circuit the court certified a class for Cheng's breach of contract claim. Instantly seeking class decertification, HSBC contended that the one-year contractual limitation period expired on absent class members while the certification order was before the Second Circuit. The court denied HSBC's motion to decertify the class. The tolling rule announced in Am. Pipe & Constr. Corp. v. Utah cannot exclude absent class members from a timely filed class action after an order denying certification is vacated on appeal. Thus, HSBC's class decertification motion was denied. However, the court granted HSBC's alternative motion to amend the class definition to include only those accountholders who made noncash deposits before the terms and conditions were updated on Feb. 20, 2021.

QUEENS | INSURANCE LITIGATION

Motion to Dismiss Insurance Action Denied By Court

Plaintiff commenced an action seeking to recover no-fault benefits in the amount of $2,024.84. Plaintiff medical provider had previously filed an arbitration request to recover benefits arising from the same motor vehicle collision involving the same assignee in 2022. There had been a consent arbitration award issued. Defendant filed a motion seeking dismissal of the complaint without prejudice, granting leave to the provider to re-file in an arbitration forum. Pursuant to insurance regulation, if there has been a previous arbitration or litigation, a new request shall stay in the same forum. The court denied the motion. The defendant waived this right by litigating the matter in court for two years and engaging in discovery.

PUTNAM | TRUSTS AND ESTATES

Court Finds Decedent Was of Sound Mind When Creating Will

Petitioner brought a contested probate proceeding where the objectants, the decedent's niece and nephew, challenged the validity of the will. They filed written objections asserting lack of testamentary capacity, fraud, duress, and undue influence. Following discovery, the petitioner moved for summary judgment dismissing the objections to probate. Upon reviewing the record, the court granted the motion, finding that she established a prima facie case for probate and the objectants failed to raise a triable issue of fact concerning the validity of the will at issue. The court held that the uncontradicted and overwhelming proof in the record revealed that the decedent, at the time he executed the will, was rational and sound of mind, that his memory was clear, and that he was not the victim of fraud, duress, or undue influence by petitioner or another person. The court found that the objectants failed to generate a triable issue of fact with respect to their claims of testamentary capacity, duress, undue influence, and fraud.

SECOND CIRCUIT | LEGISLATION

CT Law Restricting Assault Weapons Targets Unusually Dangerous Weapons

Gun control legislation enacted in Connecticut after a 2012 mass homicide at an elementary school restricted the acquisition and possession of "assault weapons" and "large capacity magazines." Plaintiffs in both underlying actions opposed the restrictions and sought to acquire and possess weapons restricted by the legislation. Second Circuit upheld district court's denial of a preliminary injunction. Plaintiffs did not show likely success on the merits of their claim that the state legislation violates their Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms. The challenged state laws impose targeted restrictions on unusually dangerous weapons while preserving legal alternatives for self-defense and other lawful purposes. Also, the challenged Connecticut laws are consistent with the country's historical tradition of regulating such weapons. Nor did plaintiffs demonstrate that the balance of equities and public interest tipped in their favor. The Circuit noted that the assault weapons of today are dramatically and reliably lethal.
