Alter Ego Claim Against Fund Founder Survives $1 Billion Judgment Dispute

A turnover petition sufficiently stated an alter ego claim against an investment management company founder based on allegations he dominated an affiliate and used that domination to frustrate enforcement of judgments exceeding $1 billion. The panel dismissed the alter ego claims against Scott Ellington and James Dondero based on two other entities and otherwise affirmed. UBS Securities sought to enforce judgments arising from failed securitization transactions by piercing the corporate veils of entities affiliated with Highland Capital Management. The court rejected Dondero's argument that the relevant "transaction attacked" for veil-piercing purposes had to be the original transaction giving rise to the debt. Rather, allegations he exercised complete domination over an affiliated entity and used it to prevent UBS from collecting its judgments could satisfy the requirement that domination be used to commit a fraud or wrong against plaintiff. The allegations were insufficient, however, to support alter ego liability against Ellington or Dondero as to two corporate entities. The court upheld refusal to convert the CPLR 5225(b) proceeding into a plenary action.

RICHMOND | MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

Hospital and Rehabilitation Center Win Only Partial Dismissal of Malpractice Action

The administrator of a patient's estate alleged New York-Presbyterian Hospital and New Vanderbilt Rehabilitation and Care Center negligently failed to prevent, monitor, and treat pressure ulcers that progressed to Stage IV, osteomyelitis, sepsis, organ failure and death. The court partially granted both defendants' summary judgment motions. Competing expert opinions concerning wound prevention, clinical deterioration, sepsis, causation, and nursing documentation created triable issues supporting malpractice and wrongful-death claims. The court found plaintiff's experts qualified by education and experience, despite lacking New York licenses or nursing-home employment, and held wording inconsistencies affected weight rather than admissibility. It dismissed New York-Presbyterian's vicarious-liability claim involving a discontinued physician and the insufficiently particularized informed-consent claim. As to New Vanderbilt, the court dismissed generalized Public Health Law allegations, ordinary-negligence and informed-consent claims, and punitive damages, finding the treatment-based allegations sounded in malpractice and did not show wanton conduct.

Agreement's Reconciliation, Duration and Risk Terms Defeat Usury Claim

QFS Capital sued Tecny Group and guarantor Solomon Asser for breaching a future-receivables purchase agreement, seeking $83,750.74 plus interest, costs and disbursements. Tecny remitted $48,911.45 after QFS made eight deployments totaling $81,268.48, then stopped payments while continuing operations. The parties cross-moved for summary judgment, with defendants arguing the transaction was a usurious loan. The court granted QFS summary judgment and denied defendants' motion. Applying the three-factor test, the court held the agreement was a true receivables sale because it contained a mandatory reconciliation provision tied to receipts, had no finite term, and placed collection risk on QFS without absolute repayment. Tecny never requested reconciliation, and defendants identified no provision making a good-faith bankruptcy or business failure an event of default. The court found defendants offered no admissible evidence creating a factual dispute; counsel's affirmation lacked probative value, while Asser did not deny execution, funding, partial remittances, continued receipts, or failure to seek reconciliation. Accordingly, QFS established liability as a matter of law.

U.S. - SDNY | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Evergreen Review Copyright Ownership Dispute Supports Federal Jurisdiction

A dispute over intellectual property rights associated with the Evergreen Review was properly removed to federal court as plaintiff's claims necessarily raised substantial questions of federal copyright law. The court denied Rosset Family Legacy Holdings LLC's (RFLH) motion to remand the action to state court and its request for attorneys' fees. RFLH, which alleged it held intellectual property rights formerly belonging to publisher Barney Rosset and his estate, sued parties associated with the Evergreen Review and related publications. Although RFLH framed its claims under state law, the court found resolving them required determining ownership and rights governed by the Copyright Act, providing federal question jurisdiction. The court rejected RFLH's arguments that removal was procedurally defective, including challenges concerning defendants' filing of the state court record. Any defects were technical and were promptly cured after RFLH identified them, and RFLH showed no resulting prejudice. Because removal was proper, the court also declined to award RFLH attorneys' fees and directed the parties to confer regarding further proceedings.

Court Allows Forensic Report Subject to Evaluator's Cross-Examination

In a matrimonial proceeding, the mother sought to modify parenting time after the father relocated from New York to Florida, while the father opposed admission of a court-appointed evaluator's 184-page forensic report and requested an ADA accommodation permitting virtual participation. The court granted the mother's motion to admit the report, subject to the evaluator's testimony and cross-examination, and denied the father's accommodation request without prejudice. The court reasoned that the evaluator was a neutral court appointee, so party-expert disclosure rules did not control, and challenges concerning hearsay, omitted collateral witnesses, methodology, and reliability affected weight rather than admissibility. Cross-examination would permit scrutiny, and unsupported portions could later be disregarded. The court further found that generalized stress from appearing at trial did not establish a qualifying need for remote participation, particularly because the father supplied no medical documentation, had traveled, and encountered technological problems during virtual appearances. The court ordered the father to appear personally for examination.

NASSAU | DAMAGES

New Damages Trial Ordered Unless Plaintiff Accepts $125,000

A jury awarded plaintiff $251,000 in damages after finding defendant defamed her in an email to school administrators, special education officials, and their son. The email accused plaintiff of taking her son's prescribed medication for personal use and fraudulently claiming government disability benefits. Defendant moved to set aside the verdict, obtain a new trial, or reduce damages, invoking qualified privilege and defects in the verdict sheet. The court upheld liability but ordered a new damages trial unless plaintiff stipulated to $125,000. The court denied the privilege challenge because defendant failed to provide the trial transcript required to assess the evidence. It also found the jury was instructed that privilege could be abused through spite or reckless disregard for truth, and evidence supported the latter theory. Although defendant's accusations were serious, repeated, and disseminated to school professionals and the parties' son, the court concluded $251,000 materially exceeded reasonable compensation. Accordingly, liability remained intact, but damages were reduced conditionally to $125,000, with all other relief denied.

Justice Paul Kenny

Bishai v. Bishai, 614719/2023 (Sept. 28)

SECOND CIRCUIT | MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

PREP Act Immunity Bars Claims Over Physician's COVID-19 Treatment

A physician was immune under the PREP Act from negligence and lack of informed consent claims arising from his prescription of prednisone to treat COVID-19 because the drug was a covered countermeasure causally related to the patient's death. The Second Circuit reversed denial of the physician's motion to dismiss those claims, affirmed dismissal of a Connecticut Unfair Trade Practices Act (CUTPA) claim and remanded. The patient's estate alleged the physician prescribed high doses of prednisone without medication to protect against gastrointestinal complications, leading to a perforated ulcer and death. The court held the PREP Act does not require a covered countermeasure to be the sole cause of an injury but only requires a causal relationship with the alleged loss. Prednisone met that standard because it was prescribed to treat COVID-19 and allegedly contributed to the fatal ulcer. The failure to prescribe protective medication did not make the injury independent of the prednisone treatment. The CUTPA claim also failed because it concerned the quality of medical treatment rather than the business aspects of the physician's practice.

U.S. - EDNY | DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Broad Arbitration Clause Requires Consultant's Claims to Be Arbitrated

A pharmaceutical consultant's claims against a consulting company and its directors had to be arbitrated as the parties' agreement broadly covered any dispute arising from their agreement or professional relationship. The court granted defendants' motion to compel arbitration, stayed the action and found their motion to dismiss moot. Plaintiffs asserted claims including defamation, retaliation, wrongful termination, breach of contract, tortious interference and failure to pay overtime wages. They argued the arbitration provision conflicted with language providing for court jurisdiction when injunctive relief was sought. The court disagreed, as the agreement unambiguously provided a single exception to arbitration for actions brought by the consulting company seeking injunctive relief for violations of the agreement. All other disputes over the agreement or the parties' relationship were subject to arbitration, encompassing plaintiffs' claims. The court also rejected defendants' request to first dismiss any deficient claims and arbitrate only those that survived, noting a party cannot seek a merits determination in court and resort to arbitration if dismissal is denied.

DEP's Handling of Decal-Bearing Trucks' Idling Complaints Deemed Arbitrary

Aggregate & Cement Trucking LLC challenged New York City Department of Environmental Protection procedures that generated idling notices against trucks bearing agency-issued processing-device decals. The company argued DEP irrationally ignored its prior determinations that the vehicles contained equipment qualifying for a statutory idling exception when operating. The court partly granted the Article 78 petition, finding DEP's citizen-complaint process arbitrary and capricious insofar as it gave no consideration to decal-program information before enforcement. The court reasoned that although a decal does not prove a processing device was operating during a particular incident, it reflects agency information directly relevant to whether an exception may apply. Requiring exhaustion before OATH would be futile regarding this systemic procedural challenge, though OATH retained authority to decide individual violations. The court declined to dictate DEP's corrective mechanism, dismiss pending notices, bar future enforcement, or treat decal-bearing vehicles as categorically exempt. It also denied attorneys' fees because CPLR Article 86 excludes municipalities.

SUFFOLK | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Bridal Vendor's Claims Fail Under New York's Anti-SLAPP Law

Princess Bridals sued Brides of Long Island and Heather Cunningham, alleging their website and Facebook group steered brides away from vendors outside a preferred-vendor list. The complaint asserted unfair business practices, censorship, and unjust enrichment, seeking injunctive relief, restitution, and fees. The court dismissed the complaint. Service on Brides of Long Island under CPLR 308(4) was ineffective because that method applies to individuals, not an LLC; if treated as an unincorporated association or Facebook group, service and capacity were likewise deficient. The court cured the late filing of Cunningham's service affidavit as a nonprejudicial procedural irregularity but dismissed the claims against her under CPLR 3211(a)(7) and the anti-SLAPP statute. It reasoned that Facebook business reviews concerned public participation and interest, shifting the burden to plaintiff to show a substantial legal basis. The complaint neither identified Cunningham nor attributed wrongful conduct to her, and plaintiff's submissions did not cure those defects. The court referred defendants' attorney-fee request to a conference and directed the parties to appear.

U.S. - SDNY | COPYRIGHTS

Exclusive Rights, Specific Infringements Support Copyright Claim; Tort Claims Preempted

A food photography company adequately pleaded copyright infringement based on allegations that a grocery store and printing company used its photographs in advertisements without authorization. The court denied defendants' motions to dismiss the copyright claim but dismissed claims for tortious interference with business relations and negligence. Rockefeller Photos alleged it obtained exclusive rights to distribute and license the photographs from their owner and the right to pursue infringement claims. The court found those allegations sufficient at the pleading stage to establish standing and rejected the argument that the copyright owner was a required party. Rockefeller also sufficiently identified 18 alleged infringements, providing the title and copyright registration information for each photograph as well as screenshots and links showing defendants' alleged use. The state law claims were preempted because they arose from the same alleged unauthorized use of the photographs and did not contain an extra element making them qualitatively different from copyright infringement. The court therefore allowed the copyright claim to proceed while dismissing the tort claims.

Suffolk County

SUPREME COURT

Court Notices

Please take notice that papers commencing an action or special proceedings in the Supreme or County Courts pursuant to the newly amended provisions of CPLR 304 and 306-b are to be filed with the County Clerk and not the clerks at the courthouse. In Suffolk County, the "clerk of the court" is the Suffolk County Clerk for the purposes of CPLR 304 and 306-b (see, County Law Sec.525 subd. 1).

The clerks at the court-houses cannot accept papers filed for the purposes of commencing an action or special proceeding. Papers improperly filed with the clerks at the courthouses will not be transferred to the County Clerk for filing and will, instead, be returned to the litigant.

Be advised, papers improperly filed with the clerks at the courthouse may not be deemed a "filing" which tolls the running of the applicable statute of limitations.

Please take notice that no Request for Judicial Intervention or its copies will be accepted by this court unless stamped on its face is the County Clerk's certification that the fee for its filing has been paid. This office will not transmit fees for Requests for Judicial Intervention or Index Numbers to the County Clerk. In instances where a fee for a Note of Issue is required present practices will continue.

The County Clerk requests that where practicable the Request for Judicial Intervention and fee not be accompanied by papers for submission to the court. Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope in order to expedite the return of your receipted RJI.

The Bar is requested to file stipulations of discontinuance in cases which have been assigned under the Individual Assignment System with this office in the first instance. After processing, this office will file the discontinuance with the County Clerk.
