Court Denies Dismissal in Case Related To Mishandling of Remains

In a tort action, plaintiffs Alberto and Freddy's Baldrich Hilder sought damages in connection with the death and subsequent organ recovery of Myriam Hoyos de Baldrich. Plaintiffs, the decedent's son and husband, alleged that Myriam's remains were mishandled by defendants without appropriate efforts to notify her family, asserting claims including loss of sepulcher and emotional distress. Defendants moved by order to show cause to dismiss. The order was denied. The court declined to adopt the Estates, Powers & Trusts Law definition of "next of kin" for purposes of the common-law right of sepulcher. The court emphasized that factual questions remain as to whether the surviving spouse, Freddy's, was "reasonably available, willing, or competent" to exercise control over Myriam's remains at the relevant time. Finally, the court held that a particularized inquiry was required to determine whether defendant should be treated as a governmental entity immune from such damages in tort.

Objections Granted to Support Magistrate's Decision Regarding Add-On Expenses

In a support enforcement proceeding, the support magistrate declined to make a decision with regard to add-on expenses for the children's educational, extra-curricular and medical expenses because the parties binding term sheet required meaningful consultation between the parties prior to any major decisions being made. The Support Magistrate's underlying decision was based upon the Support Magistrate's assertion that she lacked the jurisdiction to make determinations as to the aforementioned add-on expenses. Petitioner filed objections to the decision. The objections were granted. The court held lack of meaningful consultation as a defense to payments of the add-ons did not fall within the purview of Family Court Act §439(c).

Unsure of Which Precedent to Follow, Court Denies Default Judgment

Plaintiff brought a personal injury action where plaintiff claimed he suffered injuries as the result of a trip and fall accident. Plaintiff moved for a default against defendant LLC. Plaintiff served the LLC via the Secretary of State which was permitted under Limited Liability Company Law 303. However, plaintiff did not serve the additional copy of the pleadings and notice of default required by CPLR 3215(g)(4). The motion was denied. The court held that there appeared to be a conflict between the First and Second Departments as to the applicability of CPLR §3215[g][4] to limited liability companies, and in the face of such conflict, acknowledged that the court was bound to follow the precedent of the First Department.

Court Adjudicates on Action Related to Funds Connected to Drinking Water Protection

The trial court evaluated three claims related to the movement of funds connected to a drinking water protection program. First, the court found that the county lacked authority to "reverse" a $29-million judgment issued by the court. Regarding a second claim involving a cap on sewer tax rates, the court was bound by a very recent Second Department decision in holding that the defendants possessed discretionary authority in distributing monies. As to a third claim, the court found it had no authority to interfere with the governmental operations of the county legislature and county executive.

WESTCHESTER | LITIGATION

Summary Judgment Denied; Trier of Fact Could Find Defendant Breached Contract

Plaintiff commenced an action seeking to recover an additional $7,992.44 for the repair of key scratch damage to a vehicle owned by Ezechias Louis and insured by State Farm. Plaintiff alleged that State Farm breached its insurance policy with Louis by failing to make a good faith claim settlement offer in an amount necessary for plaintiff to restore Louis' vehicle to its pre-damaged condition, as required by New York's insurance law and its promulgated regulations. After the exchange of paper discovery, State Farm filed a motion seeking summary judgment dismissing the complaint. The motion was denied. The court held based on the evidence, the trier of fact could find that State Farm breached the insurance policy by failing to negotiate the repair estimate in good faith as required by the pertinent insurance law and regulation.

COLUMBIA | REAL ESTATE

Reformation of Mortgage Denied as It Went Past Statute of Limitations

In a foreclosure matter commenced in 2012, and delayed by serial bankruptcy filings, a sale of the mortgaged premises occurred on Nov. 20, 2024. Thereafter it was discovered that the metes and bounds description of the mortgaged premises contained only one of two lots. One lot consisted of vacant land and the mortgagor's house was on the other lot. The lot with the house was omitted from the description. The error was made in 2005. Following discovery, HSBC Bank sought to vacate the sale and correct the description in the mortgage and in all subsequent pleadings to include the lot with the house, nunc pro tunc. The court found that the relief sought was unavailable because reformation of the mortgage had a six-year statute of limitations, which expired in 2011, prior to the commencement of the foreclosure action.

U.S. - SDNY | INSURANCE LITIGATION

COGSA Limits Damages to Total of $30,000 in Consolidated Actions Over Liquor Shipments

In three consolidated actions Chatham Imports' subrogated cargo insurer Federal sued defendant MSC for non-delivery, shortage and loss to certain liquor shipments carried by MSC. In each instance MSC argued that any recovery by Federal should be limited to $500 per "package" or "customary freight unit" in accordance with Carriage of Goods by Sea Act and the relevant contracts of carriage. Granting it partial summary judgment, the court limited MSC's liability in the consolidated actions to a total of $30,000 or 60 pallets times $500. The court agreed with MSC that "pallets" were the relevant "package." Each of the three shipments were placed on 20 pallets. Under COGSA, because Chatham did not declare the value of its shipments on the contracts of carriage subrogated cargo insurer Federal's recovery was limited to $500 per package.

U.S. - EDNY | CYBERSECURITY

Duty Free Store Employees Granted Partial Judgment on Claims Arising From Data Breach

In their operation of U.S. airport duty free retail stores defendants receive and maintain personally identifiable information (PII) and protected health information (PHI) about thousands of employees, vendors, and customers, including consumers, diplomats, and foreign military personnel. Such data was breached in a 2023 cyberattack by Russian criminals. Defendants did not notify plaintiffs of the data breach until 69 days after the attack. Plaintiff former employees sued for, among other things, negligence, unjust enrichment, and breaches of implied contract and fiduciary duty. Only partly granting defendants' motion the court dismissed plaintiffs' unjust enrichment, breach of fiduciary duty and GBL §349 claims. Their negligence, breach of implied contract, and declaratory judgment claims survived. Plaintiffs pleaded the three elements of a negligence claim, and stated a plausible claim that defendants failed to follow industry safeguards for cybersecurity.

U.S. - WDNY | IMMIGRATION LAW

Asylum Applicant Is Entitled to Bond Hearing, May Partly Proceed Under Pseudonym

K.U. fled Nigeria, for his safety, and entered the U.S. in 1990. In 2023 he was convicted of conspiracy to commit money laundering and sentenced to 15 months in prison and two years' supervision. In May 2024 he was taken into ICE custody, and remains detained absent a bond hearing. On March 31, 2025 an immigration judge denied K.U. withholding of removal but granted him deferral of removal under the Convention Against Torture. Both sides appealed. The court partly granted K.U.'s motion to proceed under a pseudonym before ruling that K.U. was entitled to a bond hearing because his prolonged detention violated due process. It also allowed K.U. to submit exhibits related to his petition for habeas corpus relief, but not the petition itself, under seal. K.U.'s interest in anonymity outweighed the public's interest in disclosure. Among other things, including sensitive details of his medical history and of persecution of him and his family, the public's interest in the details of K.U.'s identity is weak where the immediate dispute turns on the constitutional issue of whether a detainee in K.U.s circumstances is entitled to a bond hearing.

U.S. - EDNY | IMMIGRATION LAW

Alien Detainee Is Denied Mandamus Relief on Application for Asylum, Removal's Withholding

Indian national Singh entered the U.S. illegally in November 2017. His I-569 application for asylum and withholding of removal has languished since it was filed with USCIS in December 2022. Singh's May 2024 lawsuit alleged that adjudication of his application has been unreasonably delayed, and sought mandamus relief under 28 USC §1361, injunctive relief under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), and challenged USCIS's Last In First Out (LIFO) scheduling system as arbitrary, excessive of statutory authority, and violative of the APA. District court dismissed Singh's complaint, without leave to amend. USCIS's decision to adjudicate asylum applications on a LIFO basis was a rule of reason, whose deviation was unsupported. Further, prioritizing Singh could delay adjudication of longer-pending applications. Additionally, Singh failed to identify a final agency action to set aside but rather challenged the absence of agency action.
