NEW YORK | TRUSTS AND ESTATES

Questions as to Joint Tenancy Allows Court To Dismiss Summary Judgment

The court denied the motion of respondent Hubert Neumann for summary determination that he was the sole owner by right of survivorship of certain co-operative shares of the 80 CPW Apartment Corporation. Based on this evidence and, in addition, on the sworn testimony of Errol Brett, Esq., the lawyer who represented decedent and Hubert at the closing of the sale of shares for apartments 5B and 5C, the court concluded that Hubert made out a prima facie case that he and decedent may have owned the shares attributable to the two apartment units as joint tenants with right of survivorship. Petitioner's evidence showed that Brett had limited recollection of the events regarding the purchase of the apartments, and that Brett may have handwritten the survivorship language days after decedent and Hubert executed the proprietary lease. The sum of petitioner's evidence was sufficient to raise questions of fact as to the issue of whether the shares for apartments 5B and 5C were to be jointly owned with right of survivorship.

KINGS | MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

No Evidence Plaintiff Bounded Decedent To Agreement

In a medical malpractice action, the defendant nursing home moved to transfer venue based on a forum selection clause. Plaintiff opposed the motion, arguing the Admission Agreement was not properly authenticated and could not be enforced against the non-signatory decedent or her administrator. The court dismissed the action. The court held that the movant's affidavit from a director of admissions only authenticated her own signature and not the purported signature of decedent's daughter. Further, even if the signature had been authenticated, the movant did not establish decedent's daughter was authorized or had apparent authority to bind decedent to the agreement.

SECOND CIRCUIT | DISCOVERY

Second Circuit Upholds $1782 International Discovery Order Against Law Firm Akin Gump

Law firm Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP appealed from a district court order granting the petition of SBK ART LLC for discovery in aid of foreign litigation under 28 U.S.C. §1782. SBK sought documents and deposition testimony from Akin for use in certain pending civil proceedings and in anticipated litigation in Europe. The district court granted SBK's petition but limited the discovery available to a small subset of the discovery that SBK had sought in its petition. Akin principally argued on appeal that the district court abused its discretion because the documents sought by SBK were not discoverable from Akin's client in any of the foreign jurisdictions in which litigation is pending or contemplated. Akin contended that a district court should not exercise its discretion under §1782 to allow discovery of documents held by a U.S. law firm when those documents are not discoverable from the firm's foreign client abroad. The Second Circuit rejected Akin's argument and affirmed, concluding that the district court did not abuse its discretion in granting the narrowed discovery request.

U.S. - EDNY | CONTRACTUAL DISPUTES

Contract Claim Survives; Defamation Dismissed As Non-Actionable and Not About Plaintiff

Plaintiff sued for breach of contract against LeTip World Franchise and parent company LeTip Int'l, alleging improper termination of its company membership after plaintiff's owner's individual membership was revoked. Plaintiff also brought a defamation per se claim for statements allegedly made by Middleton, owner of LeTip Int'l. The court dismissed the breach claims against individual defendants Middleton and Della Vallem, an officer of LeTip Franchise, for lack of contractual privity. The court rejected veil-piercing arguments but allowed the breach of contract claim against LeTip to proceed, finding a plausible dispute over whether the company was entitled to name a new representative under the membership agreement. The court dismissed the defamation claim entirely, holding that the complaint only alleged a defamatory statement by Middleton, not the other defendants, and therefore failed to state a defamation claim against LeTip or Della Valle; the alleged defamatory statement concerned plaintiff's owner (acting in his personal capacity), not plaintiff itself, and the complaint therefore failed to make out any plausible claim that plaintiff itself was defamed.

Secure Operations Monitoring Serv. Inc v. LeTip Int'l Inc., 23-cv-9405 (February 20)

NEW YORK | LANDLORD TENANT LAW

Court Awards Plaintiff $1,197.85 in Rental Arrears

Plaintiff commenced an action to recover the alleged overpayment of Section 8 rental subsidies from defendant in the sum of $1,197.85. Plaintiff was entitled to recoup one month's Section 8 rental subsidies. Under the Housing Assistance Payment contract, governing the relationship between plaintiff and defendant, defendant was entitled to recoup overpayments while the tenant resided in the unit and not any month after the tenant moved out. The court was sympathetic to plaintiff's failure to have a procedure in place to notify landlords, like defendant, of clerical errors that leave landlords in an untenable position. The court held that although plaintiff's failure to have any procedure in place to notify landlords when a clerical error had been made leaves landlords in an untenable position the court was constrained to find in favor of plaintiff.

KINGS | DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Board of Trustees Found Rational For Denying ADR

In an CPLR Article 78 petition, petitioner Eric Kelly sought an order reviewing and annulling the action of the respondents in denying petitioner a Uniformed Sanitation 3/4 Accidental Disability pension pursuant to Retirement and Social Security Law § 605-b, and declaring said action to be arbitrary, capricious and unlawful, among other things. The court dismissed the petition finding that there was a rational basis for the determination that the 2016 incident occurred during a personal lunch break and not in the performance of petitioner's assigned sanitation service duties nor at the behest of petitioner's supervisor. Therefore, the denial of the ADR was supported by substantial evidence and was neither arbitrary nor capricious. The Medical Board rationally and reasonably found that the petitioner was not entitled to ADR and the board of trustees acted rationally and reasonably in denying petitioner's application for ADR.

U.S. - SDNY | EMPLOYMENT LITIGATION

Court Rejects Clubs' Bid to Classify Restroom Attendants as Independent Contractors

Restroom attendants who were employed by the gentlemen's club defendants on or after April 8, 2020, brought a class and collective action alleging violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and the NY Labor Law (NYLL) for unpaid wages and tip withholding. Plaintiffs contended that they were not paid minimum wage and relied primarily on tips directly from patrons who used the restrooms. Before August 2023, defendants did not pay restroom attendants a regular salary. Defendants moved for summary judgment on all claims, asserting that they cannot be held liable because plaintiffs were independent contractors, not "employees" as defined by the FLSA and NYLL. The court denied the motion, finding defendants were not entitled to judgment as a matter of law that plaintiffs were independent contractors rather than employees. Instead, the court held defendants exerted significant control over plaintiffs' behavior; defendants had the dominant opportunity for profit; plaintiffs had no specialized skills and a limited real investment; and the attendants were integral to the clubs' success.

U.S. - EDNY | INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Permanent Injunction Granted in Trademark Suit; Likelihood of Confusion Over Marks

Cambridge Pavers sued Armorproof for allegedly using an "Armorproof" mark to market and sell paving stones in a way that infringed Cambridge's registered "ARMORTEC" and "CAMBRIDGE PAVING-STONES WITH ARMORTEC & WALLSTONES" marks, along with related Lanham Act and NY claims. The instant court granted Cambridge a default judgment only on the core Lanham Act claims, finding Cambridge's registered marks protectable and concluding the Polaroid factors overall supported a likelihood of confusion given the strength of the marks, the parties' competitive proximity in the same region selling essentially identical products, and allegations of bad faith (including continued use after cease-and-desist demands). The court denied default judgment on the remaining claims and treated monetary relief as abandoned because Cambridge sought only injunctive relief on the motion. Applying the Lanham Act's presumption of irreparable harm and the eBay/Monsanto injunction factors, the court entered a permanent injunction barring Armorproof from infringing Cambridge's marks and closed the case.

KINGS | CIVIL PROCEDURE

Court Lacked Personal Jurisdiction Over Defendant Because of Improper Service

Plaintiff commenced an action to enjoin defendants, situated in the Hotel Indigo in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, from serving food and alcoholic beverages. Plaintiff also moved to reinstate a previous order to show cause seeking an injunction. Defendant moved to dismiss. The court held that the summons with notice was not properly served. Among the reasons was that personal and confidential was not written on the envelopes for mailing the summons with notice to the individual defendants. The business defendant was not served. Also, the court held that commencement of the action while the premises was under a receivership was improper as this might interfere with the receiver's performance of his duties. As for plaintiff's default in appearing in support of its previous order to show cause, the court held that the excuse by the client for counsel's law office failure was insufficient. Plaintiff's motion to reinstate its prior order to show cause seeking an injunction was denied. Defendants' motion to dismiss the complaint was granted on lack of personal jurisdiction and standing grounds.

NEW YORK | DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Court Upholds Decision of Administrative Judge Concerning Workplace Injuries

Respondents petitioned for review of a finding and award of an administrative judge acting for the Second Department. The judge had to issue a determination of whether the claimant's need for left knee surgery was casually related to workplace injuries sustained. The court found no error in the decision and affirmed it. The court held that on the basis of testimony and medical reports submitted into the record, it affirmed the trier's factual findings as to when the injuries occurred. Therefore, there was no merit in the respondent's arguments that the commission lacked subject matter jurisdiction.

Court Grants Summary Judgment to NYPD Officers in Checkpoint Stop and Arrest Case

Plaintiff was driving when she was stopped by NYPD officers at a vehicle checkpoint. The officers asked her for her driver's license and car registration. After she refused, and the situation escalated, the officers arrested plaintiff and charged her with resisting arrest, obstructing governmental administration, and disorderly conduct. Pro se plaintiff brought claims under federal and state law against the five NYPD officers involved in the stop and arrest. The court granted the officer defendants' motion for summary judgment on all claims, holding the checkpoint stop was constitutional under the Fourth Amendment's "special needs" doctrine because it followed a neutral plan (stopping every third car) and had a traffic-safety purpose: checking licenses, registration, and vehicle safety, rather than general crime control. The court also rejected plaintiff's false arrest claim, finding at least "arguable probable cause" (and thus qualified immunity) to arrest her for obstructing governmental administration based on her repeated refusals to comply, failure to provide documents, refusal to exit the vehicle, and physical resistance when officers removed and handcuffed her.
